Proceedings of the Forty-sixth Congress

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 20. The business of the morning hour was the bill to amend the laws relating to the transfer of cases from state to federal courts. Mr. Turner concluded his argument against it. He said there was but one power sovereign in this land, and that was the power of the government of the United States.

Mr. Frye moved to lay the bill on the table.

The motion was defeated; yeas 98, nays 112. The vote was a strict party one, with the exception of Mr. Conger, who voted in the negative for the purpose of moving a reconsideration. On a motion to reconsider, yeas and nays were demanded on the republican side for the purpose of consuming the morning hour. The result of the motion to lay upon the table the motion to reconsider the vote was agreed to; yeas 117, nays 97.

Consideration was then resumed of the Warner silver bill, the question being on the 3d section, allowing a deposit of bullion at any mint, and its being coined for the benefit of the owner.

Mr. Conger moved to lay the section on the table. Defeated; yeas 112, nays 110. The effect of the adoption of the motion would have been to kill the bill.

Mr. Conger appealed to Mr. Warner to allow a vote to be taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Fort, but which had been excluded under previous questions.

Mr. Warner declined to consent.

Mr. Conger thereupon gave notice that his side of the house would decline to vote on the third section, and so when the vote was taken upon it there were but ten members voting.

Mr. Cox moved for a call of the house.

Mr. Townsend, of Illinois, inquired whether there was no remedy for such revolutionary proceedings. [Laughter on the republican side.]

Speaker. The remedy is a call of the house.

Garfield. The remedy is to allow a vote on the amendment.

Mr. Clymer stated that he was in the chair when Mr. Fort's amendment was offered and it was his understanding then that a vote was to be allowed upon it.

Garfield. That was the understanding on our side.

Mr. Warner denied that he had entered into any such agreement, but withdrew his objections.

Mr. Fort's amendment was then rejected; yeas 104, nays 118.

The question then recurred on the third section, and it was agreed to; yeas 113, nays 110. The question then recurred on the fourth section, which merely provides that charges for refining and melting shall be fixed by the director of the mint.

Mr. Marsh submitted an amendment that the charges shall be the difference between the market value of the bullion and the legal tender value of the coin. Agreed to; yeas 117, nays 105. As the effect of this amendment was practically the same as that of the amendment offered by Mr. Fort the vote was watched with keen interest and the result was greeted with applause on the republican side.

SENATE.

Senator McDonald asked leave to introduce a bill authorizing the president to employ the militia and the land and naval forces of the United States to enforce the laws whenever their execution is obstructed by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by judicial authorities, etc., and preventing the military from being used as a posse comitatus except in cases as authorized by the constitution and laws.

Senator Edmunds objected to the introduction of the bill on the ground that previous notice had not been given.

Senator McDonald then withdrew the bill and gave notice that he should ask leave to introduce it to-morrow.

Consideration of the executive appropriation bill was then resumed.

Senator Saunders read a short speech in opposition to the bill that the use of the military is necessary to secure fair elections.

Senator Whyte said the political clauses of the bill were not extensive enough to suit his views, which were opposed to all federal interference civil or military in state affairs. In his judgment there is no such thing as a national election. Elections are either state or municipal, senators and representatives are agents and are responsible to the states.

The time having arrived for the vote, the senate decided to adhere to its previous understanding and proceeded to vote. Senator Edmunds' motion to strike out the clause repealing the statutes relative to the test oath was lost—ayes, 26; nays, 37.

Senator Edmunds then moved to strike out the clause establishing the mode of drawing United States jurors. Lost, yeas 27, nays 37. He then moved to strike out the clause repealing the statutes relative to U. S. marshals of election. Lost, yeas 27, nays 37.

The bill was then read the third time and passed; 37 to 27.

On motion of Senator Harris the senate took up the contingent deficiencies bill, and without any action thereon adjourned.

GENERAL NEWS.

Buford's Trial.

FRANKFORD, KY., May 20.—Thos. Buford was brought from Louisville on the train this morning. The jury convened at 10 o'clock, Judge McNaughton on the bench. Geo. M. Davis for the defence, made an argument for a change of venue. The court said at the law was mandatory he would grant a change to the county of Owen. The court is to convene there on July 8th.

The Freedmen's Bank.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A select committee of the senate appointed to investigate all matters pertaining to the Freedmen's Saving and Trust Company met this morning, every member present and Senator Bruce presiding. Creswell, Leipold and Purvis, commissioners appointed under act of congress to close up the affairs of the institution, made a statement of their operations to date, presenting schedules showing the condition of the company and making suggestions as to the course that should be pursued in the future. They said, with reference to the two principal items on the assets, viz. real estate and notes, that the latter were in process of collection, but as the real estate they doubted whether it would be possible to realize upon it at present without heavy loss. They stated that a dividend of 30 per cent. had already been paid and that they hoped before long to be able to pay another dividend of 20 per cent., making 50 per cent. in all. They urged that as a means of enabling them to do this the government should purchase the Freedman's Bank building in Washington, the greater part of which is now rented for the use of the department of justice. Two drafts of bills were submitted by the commissioners designed to transfer the affairs of the company to the comptroller of currency, or such other officer of the government as congress might direct. The commissioners have heretofore asked to be relieved from the duties which have imposed, and on submitting these facts to day reiterated that request.

Rush for the Refunding Certificates.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The rush of women and children to purchase ten dollar refunding certificates at the postoffice to-day was greater than on any previous day. They stood in line three deep. The men's line was very nearly as long and much more orderly, there being frequent quarrels between the women and the posse of policemen.

Kentucky Races.

LOUISVILLE, May 20. First race, mile and quarter, resulted in a dead heat between Fortuna and Glenmore, King Richard third, time 2.13½. Ten starters. Lord Murphy won the Derby, Falsetto 2d, Strathmore 3d, other starters were Ada Glenn, Wishickon and Buckner, time 2.37.

The first heat of third race to-day was won by King Faro, Peru 2d, Victim 3d; time 1.41. In the second heat Faro was the favorite over the field at large odds. Coming into the stretch Peru and Etta Rowell pushed him very hard and Rowell forging ahead forced a terrific pace winning by a nose in the quick time of 1.42. He now became the favorite by odds of 1,000 to 300.

Railroad Movement.

MONTREAL, May 20.—Sir Wm. Tyler and other leading officials of the Grand Trunk railway, left Montreal this morning by special train for Chicago, where they go determined to secure through connection with Chicago so as to be independent of the Michigan Central and Vanderbilt Miscegenation.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., May 19. William Nelson was sentenced to-day to the penitentiary for one year and to pay a fine of $1,500. The prosecution originated in spite, but he was convicted under an old law of 1836, which Judge Long held to be valid through a decision of the supreme court.

FOREIGN.

Sporting Abroad.

LONDON, May 20.—Plaisted is at Newcastle to arrange the match with Nicholson. Wallace Ross is unable to obtain an opponent in England and has started for America to participate in the summer regattas. He also hopes to make a match with Courtney or Riley. He promises to return in the autumn when he may try for the championship. Hanlan has returned to Scottswood and will renew his training to-day, he is still the favorite, 100 to 5 was given on him Monday.

The great northern handicap to-day at the York Spring meeting was won by Castlereagh, Tentlengate second, Knight Templar third.

German Silver.

BERLIN, May 20.—The German government has resolved to restrict the sales of silver temporarily and may possibly suspend them altogether. It is believed this indicates a disposition to increase the silver coinage.

Overflow of the Danube.

LONDON, May 20.—A correspondent who has just traversed the Danube from Giurgevo to Pesth telegraphs that the Danube is very high. A short distance above Bazar, where the Austrian shore becomes low and flat the flow extends a great distance inland. Between this point and Belgrade the river is from five to fifteen miles wide; at Belgrade it is fully twenty miles wide. All the Austrian villages between Pesth and Bazar have water in the streets. Riverside inhabitants informed me that the water was within two feet of the highest point recorded. The floods continuing so late must cause great damage to crops. All grain and other growing produce in Roumelia, Bulgaria, Austria and Hungary not within reach of the high water is looking finely and promises a bountiful harvest.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The body found in the North River, N. Y., to-day, has been identified as that of Col. Greenbeck.

Orlando Cassler, who in July last murdered and robbed Geo. L. Munro, was hanged yesterday at Seward, Neb.

Jay Gould and Sidney Dillon, with the government auditor of the Union Pacific Railway, reached Chicago yesterday evening.

John Flynn associated with Davy the "Kid" in the robbery of a gambling house on a lady on Fifth avenue, New York, has been sentenced to 18 years in the state prison.

The funeral of Judge Asa Packer took place yesterday at Mauch Chunk, Pa. The ceremonies were of the simplest kind. All business places were closed and flags at half-mast.

At Norwich, Conn., yesterday, Wesley W. Bishop, charged with the murder of his wife, and with complicity in the murder of Charles Cobb, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree. The plea was accepted and the prisoner sentenced to the state prison for life.

The Italian bark Amalia, which cleared at the port of New York, on Saturday, for Barcelona, with a cargo of 2,200 barrels of refined petroleum burned to the water's edge yesterday and sank at her anchorage off Staten Island. The loss is $30,000. It is insured abroad. The crew was saved.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Subscriptions to the 4 per cent. refunding certificates yesterday, $1,880,000.

The house committee on Indian affairs has agreed to report favorably on General Hooker's proposition referring to the court of claims all questions of difference arising out of treaty stipulations with the Choctaw nation.

The ways and means committee yesterday after passing upon two bills of a private character and discussing without result the proposition relative to duty on quinine, indefinitely postponed the resolution introduced by Chairman Wood regarding the adjournment of the present session. The committee then, after some discussion agreed to the following resolution: Resolved, That this committee will not consider this session any bills or joint resolutions affecting revenues, and that all such measures shall be laid over until the regular session in December. A motion to recousider was laid on the table.

FOREIGN NOTES.

R. G. Thulfell, cotton manufacturer, Preston, has failed; liabilities £36,000.

C. M. E. Smith, iron monger of Middlesburgh, has failed; liabilities £60,000.

Laby Tabs & Co., merchants in the Spanish trade, have failed, in consequence of the depression of foreign trade.

Negotiations for the transfer of the administration of Eastern Roumelia to Gov. Ahka Pasha has been satisfactorily concluded. Russia has promised that as soon as Alika Pasha arrives in Philliopolis, Gen. Soubpier will remove Russian headquarters thence.

The N. Y. Post fears that the immense yield of silver at Leadville will affect the value of gold.

Mr. Ewing is the dark horse among Ohio democratic politicians, and is greatly feared by the Thurman clique.

The lull in the Grant movement is so great that democratic papers like the N. Y. World are trying to bolster it up.

"The Grant impulse has not received such a check in a twelve-month as this little fence-repairing tour has given it," says the Cincinnati Enquirer of Sherman's recent visit to Ohio.

Business men in Philadelphia say that if congress was not in session business would be booming. If congressmen really care for their country they will vote the appropriation and go home.

Ex-Congressman Scott Lord went into bankruptcy a few years ago, but his immense fees in the Vanderbilt law suit have enabled him to pay off all his old debts with interest. He is an honest lawyer.

Prof. Goldwin Smith has very bravely and openly come out in favor of the annexation of Canada to the United States. While certain Canadian papers criticise him severely for this, he finds some sympathy among the people. The movement he has inaugurated must end sooner or later in annexation.

Mr. Edward A. Freeman, the distinguished English historian, is disgusted with Tory slanders and sharply remarks: "The rank of the persons who stoop to spread the falsehood abroad, shows how thorough is the education which Lord Beaconsfield gives his party. I know nothing of Lord Cairns, whether he was at any time likely to be truthful or not, but I certainly should have believed the word of Sir Stafford Northcote on any matter till he went to school to the Jew. But it is now plain that the schooling of both of them has been complete."

Secretary Sherman is opposed to the exchange of the standard dollar for the trade dollar, which is provided for in the Warner silver bill, because about $20,000,000 of the $36,000,000 coined is in Asia, and of course this would be returned, as anyone would embrace the opportunity to clear the difference between the bullion value (85) and the legal tender value (100). This little "spec" would give our almond-eyed brethren some $1,350,000 profit. The trade dollars in circulation in this country were put in circulation after the trade dollar ceased to have any legal tender value, and therefore our government is not bound to protect the holders. The government should buy them only at their market value as bullion.

Prince Louis Napoleon's volunteering to go on the Zulu campaign is not universally approved of in England. The London News harshly says, "Even on the score of gratitude to the country which sheltered him, we do not see that Prince Louis Napoleon was called upon to take a share in our Zulu campaign. On every ground we are inclined to wish that Prince Louis Napoleon had remained at home. He would have been free from the suspicion of getting up a mere political demonstration playing to or at the Bonapartist galleries. His baptism of fire was ridiculous, but to him personally harmless. We can only hope that no greater harm and not so much ridicule may come of what may, perhaps, be called his anabaptism of fire."

It seems likely that Sherman, in spite of his refusal, will be compelled to run as the republican candidate for governor. The Cincinnati Commercial, the leading advocate of Sherman's candidacy for the presidency, says: "We do not see how he can help himself. It is his fate. He must accept the penalties of his public career. His acceptance of the gubernatorial candidacy in Ohio would be the assumption of the leadership of his party. The leadership belongs to him by virtue of his long services, his talents and courage, and his conspicuous identification with the great work of resumption of specie payments and the reduction by refunding at four per centum of the weight of the public debt. He has done the essential things in the treasury department that are possible under this administration. It is the next administration that should be looked after, and Ohio is again the state of destiny."

Evidently the tendency among the best men in this country is toward bi-metallism, but not according to the plans of greenbackers and other financial lunatics. Among the hard-money New York papers that have recently commenced the advocacy of bi-metallism is the World. Ex-Secretary McCulloch has recently been classed among the new converts. In his address at Harvard he talked in the following sensible way on the subject: "As the great silver-producing country of the world, the United States has a very decided interest in the use of silver, but not enough to compensate for the loss which would be suffered from a separate effort to maintain it as money. We cannot without the co-operation of the leading powers of Europe make the two metals comparatively equal in value. One or the other will go abroad, and that one will be gold for a certain period at least. We might lose much by an unaided effort to keep up silver as money. The nations must be divided into those who adopt the gold standard or the gold standard with silver used under restrictions, or the silver standard. The United States must take its choice. While under existing circumstances it is perfectly clear that the United States, while maintaining the double standard, should limit the amount of silver in circulation, it is also true that it ought to exert itself to make bi-metallic money the standard. But while I think that bi-metallic money will become universal, I regard the act of 1878 as a grand mistake. To the extent that silver in a ratio that renders it of less value than gold is forced into circulation will gold go out of circulation. What we will gain by this substitution of the inferior for the superior metal I am unable to say."

The Terms of the Subscriptions.

The following circular explains the terms on which the enormous subscription for the extension of the D. & R. G. lines was obtained:

The supreme court of the United States having finally decided that the act of congress of June 8th, 1872, grants to the Rio Grande Railway Company the prior right of location, to use the language of the court, "for the main road and its several branches, all so connected as to constitute, when completed, an extended railway system for that entire region," conditioned on reaching a point opposite Santa Fe before June 8th, 1872, and of completing fifty miles per annum thereafter, it is proposed to utilize these valuable franchises by finishing up the road through the Arkansas Canon to Leadville, and by building forthwith on the other principal lines covered by that decision.

The divisions immediately to be constructed will reach the most important mining centres of Colorado and New Mexico, where the traffic by wagons is already large enough to be very remunerative.

They are as follows:

From Canon City to Leadville and Ten Mile (through the Grand Canon of the Arkansas), 150 miles.

From Alamosa, westward, to San Juan mines, 210 miles.

From Alamosa, southward, to Albuquerque in New Mexico, 205 miles.

For the above purpose, there is required $5,000,000, but the option is retained of closing the amount when the first three millions are applied for.

For each $900, or £180 sterling, cash paid in, the applicant will receive

In the First Consolidated Mortgage 7 per cent. 30-year Gold Bonds of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company, $1,000, or £200sig. And in fully paid Capital Stock of the Co., $500.

As soon as $3,000,000 shall have been applied for and accepted, the first instalment, 20 per cent., will become subject to call on ten days' notice.

The remaining payments to be made as follows: in installments of 10 per cent. each, on ten days' notice, at least thirty days to intervene between each call. Certificates of payment, bearing 7 per cent. interest, to be issued as the amounts called are paid, which certificates will be duly exchanged for the appertaining bonds, on payment of the next following installment. The stock to delivered when the last installment is called and paid.

If any one should desire to anticipate payment, in whole or in part, the money will be received on deposit at 5 per cent. per annum, and regular certificates of payment will be issued therefor as the installments become due, against which certificates the corresponding securities will be issued as above.

The bonds will be issued under a consolidated mortgage, which shall be a first lien on the principal new lines of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company in Colorado and adjoining Territories, and a second lien on the 337 miles of line already constructed, until the present bonds are exchanged for Consolidated Bonds or paid off by the proceeds thereof. To meet or withdraw the bonds now outstanding an equivalent amount of the new bonds will be executed and issued as the old ones are cancelled.

Those to be issued for the present or future extensions shall be at the rate of not exceeding $12,500 per mile, with the right in the Trustees to authorize, after the completion of any division, a further issue thereupon for betterments, improvements and other necessary and beneficial objects, at their discretion, of not exceeding $2,500 per mile of completed railroad.

The interest will be paid semi-annually in New York and London, and the principal in New York.

Application for these Securities on the above terms, and on the annexed form, are invited, and will be received by Messrs. Woerishoffer & Co., 54 Exchange Place, N. Y.

MISS MULOCK'S CAREER.

The Romantic Life-Story of the Author of "John Halifax."

She was obliged, poor, to earn her daily bread, and, that she might forget how miserable she was, she wrote a great deal. Of course, with all this practice and with her vast experience in sorrow, for her pen was once actually dipped in tears, she wrote better and better, till finally this retiring, grief-stricken woman awoke to find herself famous. Her first novel "The Ogilvies," was very successful, and was published in 1849 when Miss Mulock was only twenty three, but her great masterpiece, "John Halifax, Gentleman," did not appear till 1857. In 1864 a pension of sixty pounds a year was awarded to Miss Mulock.

All this fame and unqualified success doubtless assuaged her grief and helped to make life endurable, but to one with such a loving heart and quick sympathies, bereft of a home and without a relation, her life was sad and lonely. But in 1865 Capt. George Lillie Craik, an officer in the English army who had been in the Crimea, met Miss Mulock, and although some years her junior, addressed her and succeeded in winning her hand. They have proved most congenial companions, and their married life has been all that they could wish, with but one exception. The woman whose love for children amounts almost to a passion, who wrote "Philip, my King," has been denied the happiness of feeling baby fingers upon her cheeks or of ever hearing herself called mother. This is a severe sorrow, but even this pain has been partially assuaged. Strangely enough, one dark, rainy night, while she and her husband were speaking of children and of the joy and brightness they bring to so many dwellings, there came a loud ring at the bell and then a furious knocking. On opening the door, lying upon the sill, they found a basket inclosed in many wrappings. When they were removed they discovered a lovely baby, only a few hours old. The child was wrapped in one roll after another of India muslin, and on its breast was pinned a note begging Mrs. Craik to be kind to the little waif thus brought to her door, and assuring her that no mean blood flowed in its veins. Tenderly she lifted the little thing in her loving arms, and her heart opened as warmly, to take in the poor little creature. They called the child Dorothea, God-given, and she is now their legally adopted daughter whom no one can take from them, not even the parents who so cruelly deserted her. The little girl is most tenderly attached to the only mother and father she has ever known.

Mrs. Craik's happy home is in the vicinity of Richmond. Let us hope that she has left her sorrows all behind her, and that while she lives no pain or grief shall ever again cross her peaceful path. Christian Union.

A Child's Heart.

The other day a curious old woman, having a bundle in her hand, and walking with a painful effort, sat down on a curb, up Woodward avenue, to rest. She was curious, because a smile crossed her wrinkled face as children passed her. It might have been this smile that attracted a group of little ones; the oldest about nine. They stood in a row in front of the old woman, saying never a word, but watching her face. The smile brightened, lingered and then suddenly faded away; and the corner of her old calico apron went up to wipe a tear. Then the eldest child stepped forward and asked:

"Are you sorry because you haven't got any children?"

"I had children once, but they are all dead," whispered the woman, a sob in her throat.

"I am very sorry," said the little girl as her own chin quivered. "I'd give you one of my little brothers here, but you see I haven't got but two, and I don't believe I'd like to spare one."

"God bless you, child, bless you forever," sobbed the old woman, and for a full minute her face was buried in her apron.

"But I'll tell you what I'll do," seriously continued the child. "You may kiss us all once, and if little Ben isn't afraid you may kiss him four times, for he's just as sweet as candy."

Pedestrians who saw three well dressed children put their arms around that strange old woman's neck and kiss her were greatly puzzled. They didn't know the hearts of children, and they didn't hear the old woman's words as she rose to go:

"Oh! children, I'm only a poor old woman, believing I'd nothing to live for, but you've given me a lighter heart than I've had for ten long years." Detroit Free Press.

Cast a Line for Yourself.

A young man stood listlessly watching some anglers on a bridge. He was poor and dejected. At last approaching a basket filled with wholesome looking fish, he sighed:

"If now I had these I would be happy. I could sell them at a fair price and buy food and lodgings."

"I will give you just as many, and just as good fish," said the owner, who had chanced to overhear his words, "if you will do me a trifling favor."

"And what is it?" asked the other.

"Only to tend this line till I come back. I wish to go on a short errand."

The proposal was gladly accepted. The old man was gone so long that the young man began to be impatient. Meanwhile the hungry fish snapped greedily at the baited hook, and the young man lost all of his depression in the excitement of pulling them in; and when the owner of the line returned he had caught a large number. Counting out from them as many as were in the basket, and presenting them to the young man, the old fisherman said:

"I fulfill my promise from the fish you have caught, to teach you whenever you see others earning what you need, to waste no time in faultless wishing, but cast a line for yourself."

Senator Wade Hampton and General Mat Gary are expected to attend the reunion of the survivors of Hood's Texas brigade at Palestine, Texas, on July 9.

PERSONAL.

Ex-President Grant is very ill in Washington.

Hon. W. Longfellow is an inveterate theatre goer.

The Empress Augusta, of Germany, is visiting Queen Victoria, at Windsor Castle.

Reuben D. Springer, of Cincinnati, is said to be the wealthiest Catholic in America.

Gladstone and Tennyson are among the warmest admirers of Irving, the English tragedian.

Rev. R. Laird Collier has accepted a call to the Unitarian Church, Bradford, England.

Prof. Stowe, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe and their two daughters have returned from Savannah.

Mr. W. W. Corcoran of Washington has given $700 for the relief of the destitute people of Waterboro, S. C.

Princess Louise is occupying herself at present in designing and inlaying a mantelpiece of different sorts of wood.

The accounts of the state of General Garibaldi's health are very conflicting. The last report is that he is getting better.

Oliver Wendell Holmes says: "Poems are rarely printed correctly in newspapers. This is the reason so many poets die young."

Mr. Barry Sullivan, the English actor, prides himself of having played Hamlet more than 2,800 times in all quarters of the globe.

Pere Hyacinthe denies the statement that he had petitioned for the recognition of his sect by the state equally with other denominations.

Rev. Lawrence S. MacMahon, the new Bishop of the Hartford (Conn.) diocese, is said to be first cousin to ex-President MacMahon of France.

The London Times intimates that Queen Victoria needs further rest and relaxation. Her troubles, however, are more mental than physical.

Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, is to deliver the address at Winchester, Va., at the dedication of the monument to the unknown Confederate dead on the 6th of June.

Queen Victoria is a great grandmother, the new arrival being a daughter of the Princess Bernhard of Sax-Meiningin, daughter of the Crown Prince of Germany, and granddaughter of England's Queen.

The Duchess of Edinburgh is visiting all the London theatres and makes herself very gay and gracious in society, by way of atoning for the cold and haughty manner she at first exhibited in England, to her great loss of popularity.

The literary executors of Mr. Bayard Taylor have been greatly annoyed and mystified by the disappearance of the lecture on Goethe from his well-known series on German literature, as delivered at Cornell University and in Boston, New York and other cities. The remaining manuscripts were found where they belonged, carefully done up and ready for the printer, as Mr. Taylor's intention always was to publish them. The Goethe has undoubtedly been lent to some friend who has failed to return it.

The Springs are situated at the mouth of Cottonwood Cañon, in a most beautiful country, salubrious atmosphere, surrounded by scenery of the most gorgeous description, being in the very heart of the Saguache range. Mount Yale lying to the north, and Mount Princeton to the south. The crystal waters of the Cottonwood River, abundant with trout, come dashing and sparkling down past the door of the Sanitarium from its fountain head, the eternal beds of snow which cap the hoary old mountain.

from every mining camp in the state. When the busy season commences our sheet now will be very complete, as will be the case in every department of state news. We shall spare no reasonable expense in gathering news, and shall aim to make the DAILY GAZETTE

The Most Readable Paper in Colorado.

To the Advertisers and Patrons of the Daily Gazette

We call attention to the fact that our subscription list has been gradually increasing so that when our first year is completed—May 1, 1879—it will have nearly a thousand names. We specially call the attention of our readers to this fact. We have now one in the city and county and one outside, hard at work increasing our subscribers. We intend the GAZETTE shall be Leadville is to be labored with by a revivalist. Good.

TWO SOLICITORS,

Charles H. Angle, a deaf mute from Topeka, Kansas, is visiting this city the guest of Mr. Harbert.

Gov. Pitkin visits Lake City in a few weeks and the inhabitants of that burg are preparing to give him a grand reception.

We received a pleasant call from Mr. Harry Phillips the business manager of the Kate Claxton theatrical troupe yesterday.

The Boston club made a total score of 465 in the Boston-Denver rifle match last Saturday, beating the Denverites by just one shot.

The last bond given by the governor for the arms has been accepted by the war department at Washington, and the arms have been shipped.

On account of lack of telegraphic communication with Denver last evening, we are unable to furnish our readers with a report of the races of yesterday.

The firemen's proposed railroad excursion to the Grand Canon of the Arkansas has fallen through owing to the refusal of the A. T. & S. F. officials to provide a train.

Mr. Proctor has decided not to go to the mountains until after the Denver races are over, as he is of the opinion that most of the mountain people will visit Denver during the week.

A gentleman from South Pueblo informed us that the one undivided half of the Chieftain office, &c., has been sold to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe (or Arkansas Valley) railroad company, and the price paid for the half was $8,000. We give the statement as it was made to us, and presume it is correct. Pueblo Democrat.

The trustees of the Deaf Mute Institute had a special meeting at the private office of the First National Bank yesterday. No business was done except the auditing of a few bills. The principal object of the meeting is to decide on the plans for the new buildings, and we presume a decision will be reached to day.

The Harvard (Ill.) Independent says of our Leadville pamphlet: "The Colorado Springs GAZETTE has just issued an interesting pamphlet containing full information about Leadville, its mines, mining laws, origin, situation, and population, as well as giving all information about how to stake a claim, etc. It is well worth the price, 25 cents, and can be secured by addressing the GAZETTE, Colorado Springs, Colorado."

The postmaster-general has issued the following order: "Owing to the rapid increase of the mails, and the establishment of many new postoffices throughout the country, this department finds it necessary in order to secure a speedy transmission of the heavy mails now passing, especially over the trunk lines of railroads, to request the public that in all cases the name of the county as well as the postoffice and state, be superscribed upon the letters, newspapers and other matter forwarded by mail."

We are pleased to see that Mr. Willits has returned and resumed work on our new city map. He has added to it a map of the surrounding country for several miles, including Pike's Peak, a small map of Manitou, also the position of the water mains and hydrants. He has spared no expense or labor in making it as perfect as possible. He is now soliciting subscriptions for it, and if a sufficient amount is subscribed will have the map lithographed and finished as a copy of his Denver map, which can be seen at Barrett's real estate office.

Sheep for the Black Hills.

Mr. Charles H. Fenn, Counselman & Co.'s major domo, came into town last night. He reports a sale of 1,100 head of wethers, shorn and sold to Mr. Meeks from Crook City, Dakota Territory. They are to be driven overland to the Black Hills and there muttoned. Our sister states and territories we are glad to see appreciate the advantages of El Paso county as a stock producing county. This band passed by town yesterday and were in splendid order, and will average—dressed about 60 pounds. Counselman & Co. retained the clip. The trip to the Black Hills is not a pleasure excursion by any means. The Indians may take a notion to appropriate some of this mutton, but we hope they will not molest this adventurous party. The drove is expected to make the journey in about six weeks, arriving among the Hills by the 4th of July.

Highway Robbery.

Last night about half past eleven, as E. W. Giddings was returning home, two men stepped out from behind trees, on the corner of Nevada avenue and Huerfano street, and told him to deliver his valuables. Fortunately Mr. Giddings had no large amount of money or other valuables with him. The men took his keys and some small change and let him go. Mr. Giddings immediately informed the police, who have the matter in hand.

Let Us Have Gas.

The gas generator exhibited by Messrs. Ehrenheofer and Bates at Mr. Drinkwater's plumbing shop, to which we referred in yesterday's GAZETTE, has attracted a great deal of attention.

We are glad to learn that a project is under discussion to introduce the gas manufactured by this machine into our city stores. Mr. Drinkwater proposes to lay the pipes, and has consulted with a number of our prominent business men who have given him good encouragement, all of them being eager to replace the clumsy old fashioned, oily malodorous kerosene with this clear white gas light. We are sure no one can oppose such an improvement, and from what we learn we are inclined to prophesy that before many weeks Colorado Springs will add another metropolitan feature by introducing gas, as it has already introduced water works. Mr. Drinkwater will wait upon others of our business men whom he has not been able to see as yet, and we hope the project will receive sufficient encouragement to warrant the proposed experiment.

The Dunderberg Sold.

Mr. M. B. Hayes, who has conducted the negotiations for the sale of the Dunderberg mine, near Georgetown, announces that the sale has been concluded, the price paid being $600,000. It is now owned by a New York company, and the stock is to be put upon the market. The mine has been one of the best producing mines that has ever been opened in Colorado. Tombstone more ore was taken out of it last year than was produced by any other of Clear Creek's famous mines. It is now producing at the rate of $1,000 a week, and has been doing very near as well for the past twelve months. The investment made by the New Yorkers can but be regarded as a good one for them. It is on the other hand beneficial to Colorado to have them own the property. The sale of such a mine as the Dunderberg is the best advertisement our state can have, because it will certainly show the wisdom of making mining investments. The directors of the new company are Emery Thayer, Walker T. Hatch, S. B. Elkins, Charles Quincy, J. W. Brown, Charles Dennis, Hiram Dewing and Thomas Slocum, Mr. Brown being president.

Kate Claxton Coming.

We are glad to be able to announce that our citizens will have an opportunity next Tuesday evening to see one of the first-class theatrical artists of the country in a first-class play. It is not necessary to say much in praise of Kate Claxton. Her beauty and her genius have given her a national reputation. Her success at the Union Square, New York, in the Two Orphans, a success repeated throughout the provinces wherever she produced that play, is well known.

On her appearance here she will produce Charles Reade's strong dramatization of his famous novel "White Lies." The play is christened "The Double Marriage," and being a society drama does not require the scenic effects of the Two Orphans to command success.

We have seen Miss Claxton many times and have no hesitation in saying that our townsmen will enjoy her playing, and we are sure that as many of our citizens have already witnessed the effect of her marvelous acting they will concur with us in our opinion.

D. J. Martin's New Stock.

We visited Mr. D. J. Martin's dry goods establishment yesterday and found that gentleman very busy arranging the large stock of spring goods which he has just received from the east.

Mr. Martin has everything almost that one can think of in his store, but among the multiplicity of articles we noticed a large supply of staple and fancy dry goods. The patterns were very attractive and the quality such as can not fail to please purchasers. He has also a large line of double and single width dress goods besides ready-made suits, dolmans and sacques.

Especially noticeable was the variety of children's, misses' and ladies' hose, ranging in price from ten cents to $3.

Among the smaller articles were observed handkerchiefs, gloves and fancy notions in bewildering profusion. Of furnishing goods Mr. Martin has a large and varied stock comprising ladies' and children's underwear, neck ties, bows and ruches.

In another department of the establishment we observed a quantity of handsome carpets, oil cloths, rugs, mattings, etc.

All kinds of hats can be found here for misses, men and children, and in fact as we said before a store full of very desirable goods of almost every variety.

Mr. Martin says that he got his goods at low prices and he is bound to sell them at corresponding figures.

The Medical Society.

The Colorado Medical society began their meetings in this city yesterday.

The informal reception at the office of Drs. Reed & Hart, which took place in the forenoon was a very pleasant occasion, and after dinner the regular session was held at the court house with the following medical gentlemen present: Drs. H. P. Anderson, J. P. Blake, R. G. Buckingham, E. M. Cushing, I. A. Hart, T. C. Hourigan, C. C. Lathrop, W. F. McClelland, J. E. Owen, J. Reed, A. Stedman, C. T. Edwords, W. M. Strickler, J. Haws, E. C. Kimball, L. M. Market and F. D. Sanford. Drs. Field and Sears were present as visitors.

Dr. Stedman presided and the exercises were opened with prayer by the Rev. T. C. Kirkwood, after which Dr. Anderson, the assistant secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting of the society. After the reading of the minutes some corrections were made whereupon they were adopted.

Dr. Strickler in a few well chosen remarks then welcomed the members of the State Medical Society in behalf of the El Paso County Association. The president called upon Dr. Buckingham as one of the oldest members of the State Society, a man who had seen its beginning, to respond to the address of welcome. Dr. Buckingham complied gracefully with this request after which Dr. McClelland, as treasurer, made his report.

Drs. Warren, Blickensderfer, Anderson, Strickler, Edwords, Sanford, Kimball, Dugan, Raney, Haws and Stewart were proposed for membership and unanimously elected, Drs. Lathrop and Solly being appointed to cast the ballots of the society for these gentlemen.

Dr. Lathrop, of the publication committee, then reported that two hundred and fifty copies of the transactions had been printed and distributed to members, and suggested that more copies be printed.

A verbal report on chemical and pharmaceutical preparations was made and ordered to be placed in writing. The gentlemen were requested to give their experience in regard to the value of preparations. Dr. Solly reported favorably in several cases, and further reports were made by Drs. Edwords, Haws, Reed, Cushing and others.

Dr. Lathrop then reported upon the death of Dr. Lansing and was requested to embody his report in writing.

Miscellaneous business was then taken up and letters of resignation were read from Dr. Vandervoort, of Georgetown, and Dr. Bond, of Boulder, who urged failing health as the reason. A motion was made by Dr. Reed expressing the regret of the association that the gentlemen should find it necessary to resign their membership, which motion was unanimously adopted.

Dr. Solly then moved that Dr. Buckingham be requested to read a volunteer paper, which motion was carried. Dr. Buckingham then read a very interesting paper at the conclusion of which an animated discussion ensued, participated in by Drs. Reed, Stedman, Buckingham, Cushing, Haws and Strickler. The association then adjourned to meet this morning in court house hall at 10 o'clock.

THE RECEPTION.

Last evening a reception in honor of the meeting of the State Medical Society was given by Dr. and Mrs. Solly. It was attended by the members of the society and a large number of invited guests from this city. Generous hospitality and kind attention made the evening pass very pleasantly for all. Not the least among the many attractions was the singing by Madame Rita.

A New Mining Law.

Judge Belford has introduced in Congress a bill to amend section 2,326 of the Revised Statutes, relating to suits at law affecting the title to mining claims, the text of which is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That if, in any action brought pursuant to section 2,326 of the Revised Statutes, title to the ground in controversy shall be established by either party, the jury shall so find, and judgment shall be entered according to the verdict. In such case costs shall not be allowed to either party, and the claimant shall not proceed in the land office or be entitled to a patent for the ground in controversy until he shall have a perfect title.

The bill was referred to the committee on mines and mining, and that committee reported it back with the recommendation that it pass.

ROSITA'S TRAGEDY.

Edward A. Egglestone First Swindles, then Murders a Man.

Edward A. Egglestone is a man against whom the people at large have been frequently warned by the public press. He has been shown to be a man of dangerous character, and one whom all honest men should shun, but now there comes to us a terrible story of swindling and murder, and Edward A. Egglestone is the chief actor in the tragedy. He is accused of the brutal and unprovoked murder of an inoffensive man in a lonely cabin at Rosita. The Denver Tribune gives the following particulars of the affair:

Rosita, the usually quiet little county seat of Custer county, was last Saturday evening the scene of a brutal and evidently unprovoked murder. In the discharge of its duty towards the public at large, the Tribune has been frequently called upon to warn its readers against one Edward A. Egglestone, a man who has no conscience and withal a man so plausible and smooth of tongue and pen as to be capable of hoodwinking the unwary.

For the past five years he has been writing the wildest stories about himself and his exploits in the eastern papers, and as he writes exceptionally smoothly, uses good English (and a world of it) he has always found publishers, from the New York Herald down to some of the little thumb papers of Chicago. It was generally his plan to speak of himself as a prospector of splendid attainments and possessions, and thus invite correspondence.

Among others who wrote him was a Mr. W. H. Connett, of New York, who had been for the past twenty years employed by the firm of George Opdyke & Co. Desiring, it is supposed, to find a new and broader field for the exercise of his energy, and believing that that could be had in the Far West, he wrote to Egglestone after seeing his name in one of the scoundrel's own published letters—published of course over another name. A correspondence ensued. Connett laid his plans bare, told Egglestone what his business was, and what he was capable of doing. Egglestone was of course equal to the occasion, and he responded saying that he was anxious to open a bank at Rosita. He had, he said, more money than he could do anything with. He did not desire to become a banker himself, but would like to furnish a capital of $1,000,000 and have Mr. Connett take charge of the banking concern.

This is the first chapter of the story. The inducements held out by the smooth-tongued Egglestone were so numerous and so bright that Connett could not withstand the temptation. He resigned his position with Opdyke & Co., bade adieu to his family, took the train and made his way West with a light heart and all the money that he had. When he arrived in Colorado he found Egglestone, to all appearances, to be what he had expected—a man of wealth and highly respected. Of course Egglestone found a means to get from Connett what money he had.

Last Sunday the two men were at Rosita. They quarrelled during the day about the money transactions between them, Connett's eyes having been opened by this time. Late in the day the two men, accompanied by John Howcutt, an assayer at Rosita, repaired to the home of the latter, named a small cabin in the suburbs of the city.

About dusk two men who were passing nearby heard the report of a gun or pistol, which report was soon followed by another. A man then ran out of the shanty crying murder, and another followed him. The first out fell on the ground and the pursuer bent to pick him up. When he did so another shot was fired. The two passers-by were not close enough to recognize any of the men.

Later investigation revealed the fact that Connett had been shot, but it has not yet at least had not when our informant left been determined who did the shooting. The circumstances point to Egglestone as the guilty party. He and Howcutt had pistols about them, Egglestone a large one and Howcutt a small one. It is known that Egglestone had had his pistol in pawn, but that he redeemed it last Saturday. Egglestone locked himself in his cabin and refused to submit to arrest. When he was taken charge of he did not have the pistol about him. It was found next morning with all the chambers loaded. But there are those who know where the weapon was hidden during the night.

Both Egglestone and Howcutt were arrested, but Egglestone was put in irons while the other man was allowed to go comparatively untrammeled. The citizens of Rosita are firmly convinced that Egglestone committed the murder, and there were not wanting those who said that the case was one in which Judge Lynch could justly claim jurisdiction. Howcutt is said to have been intoxicated at the time of the occurrence. Egglestone claims that Connett killed himself.

The preliminary examination was in progress when the Tribune's informant left Rosita hence he could not give the result.

Connett was a man about 52 years old. He leaves a family who reside in New Jersey and who, through Egglestone's conniving, are left destitute, if it is not through his villainy they are deprived of husband and father.

We learn from other and later sources that the investigation before a coroner's jury was held yesterday. An examination of the cabin in which the body lay, showed three balls in the wall, (log) which on being dug out proved to be of calibre 41, the size of Egglestone's revolver, which was not found on his person when arrested, nor could diligent search find it in his house. Howcutt's revolver, which was on a shelf in the room with the deceased where the shooting took place, was calibre 31, and had two empty chambers.

A large number of witnesses testified, and the jury brought in the following verdict: "The said jurors upon their oaths do say that they believe that the said Wm. H. Connett came to his death from a gun or pistol shot wound at the hands of either Edward A. Egglestone or John Howcutt, in or near the residence of said Howcutt, in the town of Rosita, county of Custer, State of Colorado, on the 17th day of May, 1879, between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m."

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Notwithstanding the fact that thousands of our people are at present worrying themselves almost to death over this vexed question, even to the extent of neglecting their business, their homes, and their duty to their families, there are still thousands upon thousands of smart, hard working, intelligent men pouring into the great Arkansas Valley, the Garden of the West, where the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad offers them their choice of 2,500,000 acres of the finest farming lands in the world at almost their own prices. If you do not believe it, write to the undersigned, who will tell you where you can get a cheap land exploring ticket, and how, at a moderate expense, you can see for yourself and be convinced.
